

THE CHALDÆAN ORACLES OF ZOROASTER.

CAUSE GOD, FATHER, MIND, FIRE MONAD, DUAD, TRIAD.1

- 1.2 But God is he that has the head of a hawk. He is the first, indestructible, eternal, unbegotten, indivisible, dissimilar; the dispenser of all good; incorruptible; the best of the good, the wisest of the wise: he is the father of equity and justice, self-taught, physical, and perfect, and wise, and the only inventor of the sacred philosophy.

Euseb. Præp. Evan. lib. I. c. 10.

- 2.3 Theurgists assert that he4 is a God, and celebrate him as both older and younger, as a circulating and eternal God, as understanding the whole number of all things moved in the world, and moreover infinite through his power and of a spiral form.

Z. or T.

Proc. in Tim. 244.—Tay.

3. The mundane god, eternal, boundless,

T.

Tay.

5. Hence this stable God is called by the gods silent, and is said to consent with mind, and to be known by souls through mind alone.

T.

Proc. in Theol. 321.—Tay.

6. The Chaldæans call the God (Dionysus or Bacchus) Iao in the Phœnician tongue (instead of the intelligible light), and he is often called Sabaoth, signifying that he is above the seven poles, that is the Demiurgus.

Lyd. de Mens. 83.—Tay.

7. Containing all things in the one summit of his own hyparxis, he himself subsists wholly beyond.

But has not shut up his own fire in his intellectual power.

Z.

Psell. 30.—Plet. 33.

12. Such is the Mind which is there energizing before energy.
That it has not gone forth but abode in the paternal depth,
And in the adytum according to divinely-nourished silence.

T.

Proc. in Tim. 167.

13. All things are the progeny of one fire.
The Father perfected all things, and delivered them over
To the second Mind, whom all nations of men call the first.

. . . . . For he placed
Mind in Soul and Soul in dull Body,
The Father of Gods and Men so placed them in ours.

Z. or T.

Proc. in Tim. 124.

19. Natural works coexist with the intellectual light
Of the Father. For it is the Soul, which adorned the great heaven
And which adorns it after the Father.
But her horns are established on high.

Z. or T.

Proc. in Tim. 106.

20. The Soul, being a bright fire, by the power of the father,

Z. or T.

For the framer of the fiery world is the Mind of Mind.

T.

Proc. in Theol. 333.—in Tim. 157.

T.

Proc. in Plat. 376.

28. The Mind of the Father said that all things should be cut into three:
His will assented, and immediately all things were cut.

T.

Proc. in Parm.

29. The Mind of the eternal Father said into three,
Governing all things by Mind,

T.

Proc. in Tim.

30. The Father mingled every Spirit from this Triad.

Lyd. de Men. 20.—Tay.

31. All things are governed in the bosoms of this triad.

Lyd. de Men. 20.—Tay.

32. All things are governed and subsist in these three.

T.

Proc. in I. Alcib.

33. For you may conceive that all things serve these three principles.

T.

Not the first, but that by which things are measured.

INTELLIGIBLES, INTELLECTUALS, IYNGES, SYNOCHEs, TELETARCHÆ, FOUNTAINS, PRINCIPLES, HECATE AND DÆMONS.

39. The Mind of the Father made a jarring noise, understanding by unwearied counsel
Omniform ideas: which flying out from one fountain
They sprung forth: for from the Father was the will and the end;
(By which they are connected with the Father
According to alternate life from several vehicles,
But they were divided, being by intellectual fire distributed
Into other Intellectuals: For the king previously placed before the multiform world
An intellectual, incorruptible pattern, the print of whose form
Is promoted through the world, according to which things the world appeared
Beautified with all-various Ideas; of which there is one fountain,
From this the others rush forth distributed,
And separated about the bodies of the world, and are borne
Through its vast recesses like swarms
Turning themselves on all sides in every direction,
They are Intellectual conceptions from the paternal fountain,
Partaking abundantly the flower of Fire in the point of restless time,
But the primary self-perfect fountain of the Father
Poured forth these primogenial ideas.

Z. or T.

Proc. in Parm.

Z. or T.

Proc in Tim. 321.

91. This animastic spirit, which blessed men have called the pneumatic soul, becomes a god, an all-various dæmon, and an image, and the soul in this suffers her punishments. This fountain they separate from the whole vivific goddess<sup>12</sup>; from whom also suspending the whole of fate, they make two series, the one animastic, or belonging to the soul, and the other belonging to Fate. They assert that the soul is derived from the animastic series, but that sometimes it becomes subservient to Fate, when passing into an irrational condition of being, it becomes subject to fate instead of Providence.

142. The most celebrated of the Babylonians, together with Ostanes and Zoroaster, very properly call the starry spheres herds; whether because these alone among corporeal magnitudes, are perfectly carried about a centre, or in conformity to the oracles, because they are considered by them as in a certain respect the bonds and collectors of physical reasons, which they likewise call in their sacred discourses herds, and by the insertion of a gamma, angels. Wherefore the stars which preside over each of these herds are considered demons similar to the angels, and are called archangels: and they are seven in number.

143. Zoroaster calls the congruities of material forms to the reasons of the soul of the world, divine allurements.

MAGICAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL PRECEPTS.

144. Direct not thy mind to the vast measures of the earth;
For the plant of truth is not upon ground.
Nor measure the measures of the sun, collecting rules,
For he is carried by the eternal will of the father, not for your sake.
Dismiss the impetuous course of the moon; for she runs always by the work of necessity.
The progression of the stars was not generated for your sake.
The wide aerial flight of birds is not true,
Nor the dissections of the entrails of victims: they are all mere toys,
The basis of mercenary fraud: flee from these
If you would open the sacred paradise of piety
Where virtue, wisdom, and equity, are assembled.

Z.

Psel. 4.

145. Stoop not down to the darkly-splendid world;
In which continually lies a faithless depth, and Hades
Cloudy, squalid, delighting in images unintelligible,
Precipitous, winding, a blind profundity always rolling,
Always espousing an opacous, idle, breathless body.

Z. or T.

Synes de Insom. 140.

146. Stoop not down, for a precipice lies below the earth,
Drawing under a descent of seven steps, beneath which
Is the throne of dire necessity.

Z.

Psel. 6—Plet. 2.

147. Leave not the dross of matter on a precipice,
For there is a portion for the image in a place ever splendid.

148. Invoke not the self-conspicuous image of nature.

149. Look not upon nature, for her name is fatal.

Since by always alluring, they seduce the souls of the initiated.

154. Not hurling, according to the oracle, a transcendent foot towards piety.

Z. or T.

Dam. in vit. Isidori ap. Suid.—Tay.

155. Never change barbarous names,
For there are names in every nation given from God,
Having unspeakable efficacy in the mysteries.

166.<sup>17</sup> It is not proper to understand that Intelligible with vehemence,
But with the extended flame of an extended mind measuring all things
Except that Intelligible. But it is requisite to understand this:
For if you incline your mind you will understand it
Not earnestly, but it becomes you to bring with you a pure and inquiring eye,
To extend the void mind of your soul to the Intelligible,
That you may learn the Intelligible,
Because it subsists beyond mind.

Or a boy, carried on the swift back of a horse,
Fiery, or clothed in gold, or naked,
Or shooting with a bow, or standing upon horseback—

Shining flashingly through the depths of the whole world
Hear the voice of fire.

Footnotes

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Taylor in his collection of the oracles (Class. Journ. No. 22.) has arranged them under the following heads. I. The oracles which he conjectures may be ascribed to Zoroaster himself. This division includes the collection of Psellus, and in this collection are marked Z. as in the 8th. II. Oracles delivered by Theurgists under the reign of Marcus Antoninus. These relate to the Intelligible and Intellectual orders: and are here distinguished by a T as in the 4th. III. Oracles delivered either by the Theurgists or by Zoroaster, here marked Z or T. as in the 2nd. The rest he has placed together as uncertain or imperfect in their meaning; to which he has subjoined a few from the Treatise of Lydus de Mensibus. We are also indebted to Mr. Taylor for the references to the authors from whom the collection was originally made, and for the addition of several oracles hitherto unnoticed: the latter are distinguished by the letters Tay. after the reference, as in the 2nd oracle.

<sup>2</sup> Eusebius attributes this to the Persian Zoroaster. I have added it to the collection.

<sup>3</sup> Lobeck seems to be of opinion that neither this nor the one next following have any claim to be inserted.

4  $\chi\theta\bullet\nu\omicron\varsigma$ , Time Tay.—Qy.  $\text{Κρ}\bullet\nu\omicron\varsigma$ . The latter Platonists continually substitute  $\text{Χρ}\bullet\nu\omicron\varsigma$  for  $\text{Κ}\theta\bullet\nu\omicron\varsigma$ .

5 The Gnostics used the word Æon itself for their different celestial orders. See also Sanchoniatho. p. 4.

6 What the Pythagoreans signify by Monad, Duad, and Triad—or Plato by Bound, Infinite, or Mixed; or we in the former part of this work, by The One, The Many, and The United; that the oracles of the Gods intend by Hyparxis, Power, and Energy.—Dam. de Prin.—Tay.

7 The whole of the following division is a system grafted upon the Platonic doctrine of Ideas. It is composed of six different orders, called Triads, or each consisting of three Triads, which have different names in the respective theologies of the Modern Platonists, and of those who assumed the title of Chaldæans. Both regarded the first Cause as the One and the Good; from whom proceeded in succession the three first orders which were all Ineffable and Superessential.

8 I. The first Order is the Intelligible Triad of the Platonists, but Psellus says it was venerated among the Chaldæans as a certain Paternal Profundity, containing three triads, each consisting of Father, Power and Intellect.

9 II. The second order of the Platonists was the Intelligible and at the same time Intellectual Triad. Among the Chaldæans it consisted of the Iynges, Syonches and Teletarchæ.

10 III. The Intellectual Triad of later Platonists corresponds with the Fountains or Fontal Fathers of the Chaldæans.

11 The last of the Intellectual Triad was the Demiurgus, from whom proceeded the Effable and Essential orders including all sorts of Dæmons. They are according to the respective systems—

OF THE PLATONISTS.	OF THE CHALDEANS.
IV. The Supermundane.	IV. The Principles.
V. The Liberated.	V. The Azonic.
VI. The Mundane.	VI. The Zonic.

The Demiurgus was the fabricator of the world, and held the same relative position to the three succeeding essential orders as did the first cause to the three preceding or superessential orders.
